Hello, our future volunteer!

We know that you are our volunteer because you:

- like the adventures, want to give a try an austerity lifestyle in a rural area;
- are a team player, open-minded, tolerant, and want to explore different cultures and live in diversity,
- adore nature as much as we do;
- don't see problems in everything, only challenges that will let you grow personally;
- scape from mobile routine
- are ready to participate in different activities, talks and take initiative to organize workshops for a local community;
- wish to live this volunteering experience to learn more from the people you will be working with, from other volunteers, the local community, and learn more about yourself.

It's all about you, right? If you think so, don't hesitate to send your CV and Cover Letter to obretebre@sinergia.org

Who we are

We are Obre't'ebre, a non-profit organization located in Roquetes, Tarragona province, Catalonia, Spain, with the aim at promoting values, the social cohesion of young people and children, especially those at risk of social exclusion, in rural areas with fewer opportunities, as well as the sustainable development of the community.

We are a sending, accepting, and coordinating organization of the European Solidarity Corps.

Even if your volunteering is not in the office of our organization, we will be in charge of making follow-ups, payments for travel expenses, pocket money, food management, organization of complementary activities, Catalan language lessons, etc. Check more about us here:

Who we are looking for

A young person between 18-30 years old from one of the participating countries that have an interest in the topics of the project, sustainable living, community life, solidarity, and basic skills in graphic design because most of the entities will also need help with social media management.

The active, initiative, and participative persons, willing to live in a rural area (because the lifestyle is completely different from Barcelona). You will live in the countryside and will be walking for around 30-40 minutes to get your project. In case of need, we can provide you with a second-hand bike. If you are afraid of insects and not willing to live in the community, think about applying for this project.

Not speaking the language it's not a problem but we really value the ATTITUDE of the volunteer: open-minded, flexible, willing to cooperate off-hours in other activities, clearly understand the concept of being a volunteer, willing to live and work with a variety of people with diversity (migrants, young people with disability, special needs, with fewer opportunities).
