Experyment Science Centre

Gdynia, Poland

What is your Super Power? I am a volunteer!

Description of the organization:

Centrum Nauki Experyment is a modern, interactive science centre in Gdynia, Poland. Our aim is to make science enjoyable and accessible for everyone, no matter their age. One of our greatest attractions is the exhibition in which guests can explore different areas of science. We also organize lectures and various educational workshops and science shows.

Description of the activity:

As a volunteer, you will be working mainly in the Event Department where you have a chance to plan, organize and implement many different events that the centre arrange each year. Creating and executing workshops for children and adults will be part of your responsibilities.

Who can apply?

The volunteer should be interested in methods of active education, open to people from other countries and cultures and like to co-operate and work in a group. We are looking for volunteers who are communicative, open for new experiences, creative and inventive.
